News from Region III

FEMA Mitigation Experts Offer Advice on Flood Cleanup and Rebuilding

CHARLESTON, W.V. -- Mitigation and Individual Assistance experts from the Federal Emergency Management Agency will be in Logan County to provide guidance and information on the disaster assistance application process, housing assistance, flood cleanup, flood insurance, repair and rebuilding to Logan County residents recovering from the recent storms.

Flood Insurance Is Best Protection against Huge Losses

CHARLESTON, W. Va. -- The most common disaster that the Federal Emergency Management Agency deals with involves flooding. The topography of West Virginia makes it especially vulnerable to floods, as many residents bluntly learned, or relearned, over the last several weeks.

FEMA's Public Assistance Program Helps to Rebuild and Repair

CHARLESTON, W. Va. -- West Virginia's public entities are facing daunting and often expensive challenges in the wake of the recent tornadoes and flooding.
